Additional Demands Are Understood to Have Been Made by the British and American Ministers-Changes in Our Commission.

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 30 .-The State Department was advised this morning that Viceroy Liu had been degraded by an Imperial decree issued today. The abstract of the decree, cabled by Mr. Denby, shows that the responsibility for the Cheng-Tu riots in the province of Sze-Chuen rests with the officials; that Viceroy Liu was accordingly careless. and took no notice of the riots, and made no attempt to stop the outrages. and Fleming Cheshire.

Liu, the degraded viceroy, appears to have been an official whose constant alm was to stir up strife with the missionaries, and seek the good-will of the natives, whose deep-rooted, anti-foreign sentiment whose deep-rooted, anti-foreign sentiment caused the periodical outbreaks over which he ruled. Additional demands are understood to have been made by the British and American Ministers, and if they are com-plied with a long step in the direction of reform in the Province of Sze-Cheun will have been taken. These Ministers have, it is understood, made a demand that all examination for promotion in and appointment to office shall cease in that province for three years. This is intended as a blow to the office-holding class, from which source emanates all the alleged information circulated among the natives for the purpose of inciting them to the commis-sion of outrages.

ROTH GREAT ON JUMPING

Williams Bas a Friend Who Escapes Through the Window.

Henry Williams, the colored man who ade good his escape from the pen in the Police Court yesterday morning, is believed to be a "sneak thief" of note, or whom the police have been on the look out for some time.

He was caught Sunday night in bed in a house on the corner of Marshall and seventeenth streets by Sergeant John T. Hall and Officer Louis Westner, and ar-rested on the charge of being a suspicious character. It is believed that three weeks ago he entered the jewelry store of Mrs. Laura Labell, on Seventeenth street, and stole from the show-case a double-case gold watch, which he subsequently pawned with Mr. Weinburg. His partner, or at least a close friend, is William Short, who has studiously avoided meetings with Short works, and sent up word to him on the third floor that he wished to speak with him. The messenger returned with the intelligence that Short had left by the window, and upon investigating the officer found that in order to clude him the man had dropped nearly 50 feet. On Sunday night Short was in the house with Williams when the officers arrived, but hearing their approach adopted the same means of escape.

It had not been Sergeant Hall's intention to arrest Short, but if he comes across him now he will probably take

LOUIS JAMES IN VIRGINIUS.

He and His Company Give a Finished Production at the Academy. Mr. Louis James appeared at the Acade my last night in James Sheridan Knowles's tragedy, "Virginius," which was presented with sumptuous environment. Mr. James suggested Virginius clearly

Mr. James suggested Varginius clearly and beautifully in the sweet domestic repose and paternal benignity of his usual life—making thus a background of loveliness, on which to throw, in lines of living light, the terrible image of his agonizing sacrifice. And when the inevitable moment came for his dread act of righteous slaughter, it was the moral grandeur, the heart-breaking paternal agony, and the overwhelming pathos of the deed that his art diffused—not the "gashed stab," the blood, the physical convulsion, the revolting animal shock. Neither was there druling, or dirt, or physical immodesty, or any other attribute of that class of the natural concomitants of-insanity, in the subsequent delirium. Virginius, as embodied by Louis James, was a man of noble and refined nature; lovely in life; cruelly driven into madness; vic-torious over dishonor, by a deed of terri-ble heroism; triumphant over crime, even in forlorn and pitiable dethronement and In foriorn and pitiable dethronement and ruin; and, finally, released by the celestial mercy of death. And this was shown by a poetic method so absolute, that Virginius, while made an actual man to every human heart, was kept a hero to the universal imagination, and a white ideal of manly purity and grace to that great faculty of taste which is the umpire and arbiter of the human mind.

Miss Alma Kruger, a delicate and subtle artist, appeared in the role of Virginia, in which she showed a rare dramatic intelligence; the atmosphere of her mind and art is poetic, and her execution is marked by exquisite refinement and grace.

Exposition Will Probably Remain Closed on First Day of Week. ATLANTA, GA., September 30,-The question of Sunday opening was settled by an overwelming vote at the directors' meeting on the exposition-grounds this afternoon. There was a very full meeting of the board, and Mr. Cabaniss, man-ager of the Atlanta Journal, moved that the grounds be opened and the Midway Mr. Howard Palmer, ex-director-general, moved that the grounds be closed on Sundays, and that this action be speedily

Captain J. W. English, chairman of the Executive Committee, moved as a sub-stitute that the whole matter be laid on the table. The motion to lay on the table was adopted by an overwelming vote. At this juncture Dr. R. D. Spalding arose and read the following extracts from the rules and regulations adopted by the Exposition Company some months ago: "The exposi-tion shall be opened for the admission of visitors on the 18th day of September and closed on the 31st day of December, 1895. On each day of the week except Sunday the gates shall be open to exhibitors and all employees at 6 o'clock A. M., and to the public at 8 o'clock, and close at 16 o'clock P. M., except on special occasions." The reading of this rule was applauded, and it is considered that this will settle the question. The vote to lay Mr. Caba-niss's motion on the table had been so overwhelming that it is not believed that any further attempt will be made to open the exposition-grounds on Sunday. SEISMIC PHENOMENA CONTINUE.

They Say a Volcano Is Forming Under the Ocean. ST. LOUIS, MO., September 30 .- A spe cial from Oaxaco, Mex., says that word omes from Pinotepa that seismic phe nomena continue there. At one place the earthquake shocks have been so vio-lent as to destroy the beach, and the waves have rolled up to the walls of neighboring ranches.

A great drought has accompanied these alarming manifestations, and the farmers are nearly ruined. Fishermen dare not go out to sea, as the earthquakes have been continuous for many days. They say a volcano is forming under the ocean.

The Tellby Excursions.

The success of the Trilby Excursions has been a marvel to the public, and it is all owing to their conduct, which has been strictly first-class in every respect. These excursions have been so successful that Messrs. Michie & Adams have decided to renew them the next season (in 1895), and hope that their friends will give them the same liberal patronage. It is marvellous that twenty excursio trains can be run and not one complain can be made as to their conduct. Ever one is pleased with the conduct of thes special trains. No delays and no accidents have marked the unequalled suc-cess of these trains, which will be re-peated during the season of 1896. Much is peated during the season of 1896. Much is due to the Atlantic-Coast Line and Norfolk and Western railroad for the great care they have taken with these trains, and we can safely promise a repeater for next season. Our thanks are due to the public for their liberal patronage, which is about 12,000 people.

Two blasts were set just before quiting, one on top of a large ledge of rocks, ting, one on top of a large ledge of rocks, the other much higher and further up the side of the hill. They were to be touched off with wires from an electric battery. The men took refuge under a ledge of rock immediately beneath the first blast, intending to touch off the one higher up. By a mistake the blast over the ledge was fired first. The explosion tore loose the whole ledge of rock, and the immense mass fell upon the men.
